TECHNOLOGY

Mark Wrapper manufactures from its factory in Amulia; all kinds of flexible packaging materials using advanced technology machinery and fully automated Rotogravure technology to fulfill the needs of the local market and also tap into the export market. Through the introduction of 3 layer film making machine, a lamination extrusion machine, a 9-color printing machine, and a state-of-the-art Quality Control Lab, Mark Wrapper has been able to manufacture 5-layer packaging with spot lamination and provide the highest quality of packaging. With State of an art Quality Control laboratories equipped with modern advanced equipment for the first time in Bangladesh, we have been able to ensure the best quality inspected products for our customers. The future looks bright for the business as we have started to bring in new technological extensions to their product line and grow with our business partners. Mark Wrapper is planning to expand technological innovation through the Lami Tube production project, Alu-Alu foil for pharmaceutical packaging and also expanding the production capacity by adding a second line of expansion.
